Poetry.

Forget Thee.

Forget thee! Ask the violet blue,
In yonder flowery bed,
If it forgets the pearly dew
That trembles on its head.
Forget thee! Ask the vesper star
That gilds the evening skies,
If, in the blazing amplitude,
It e'er forgets to rest.

Forget thee! Ask the bird of flight,
With rich and glossy wing,
If it forgets the moorland green
Of sweet and early spring.
Forget thee! Ask the blushing rose
That opes its petals fair,
If it forgets the rain that throws
Its fragrant moisture there.

Forget thee! Ask the blighted heart,
Bereft of every friend,
If it forgets the holy spot
Where weeping willows bend.
Forget thee! Ask the mother now
With sad and tearful eyes,
If she forgets her cherub's face—
So guiltless in the skies.

Forget thee! Ask the harping throng
That fill the courts on high,
If they forget to sing their song
Of triumph through the sky,
Forget thee? Ask the child of light,
Wreathed with undying flowers,
If he forgets the wreathlet bright,
Culled from celestial bowers.

Forget thee! I can ne'er forget
A face so sweet as thine;
Thine image is forever set
Within this heart of mine;
And when 'neath other skies I be,
And brave the ocean's foam,
Florence, my thoughts will turn to thee—
To thee and thy bright home.

LINDEN, May 23, 1871.

Selected Story.

The Managing Wife.

Ezra Newton had just finished looking over his yearly accounts. "Well," asked his wife, looking up, "how do you come out?"

"I find," said her husband, "that my expenses during the past year have been thirty-seven cents over a thousand dollars."

"And your income has been a thousand dollars?"

"Yes. I managed pretty well, didn't I?"

"Do you think it managing well to exceed your income?" said the wife.

"What's thirty-seven cents?" asked Mr. Newton, lightly.

"Not much, to be sure, but still something. It seems to me we ought to have saved, instead of falling behind."

"But how can we save on this salary, Elizabeth? We haven't lived extravagantly. Still it seems to have taken it all."

"Perhaps there is something in which we might retrench. Suppose you mention some of your items."

"The most important are house rent, one hundred and fifty dollars, and articles of food, five hundred dollars."

"Just half."

"Yes, and you'll admit that we can't retrench there, Elizabeth. I like to live well. I had enough of poor board before I married. No. I mean to live as well as I can."

"Still we ought to be saving up something against a rainy day Ezra."

"That would be something like carrying an umbrella when the sun shines."

"Still it is well to have an umbrella in the house."

"I can't contradict your logic, Elizabeth, but I'm afraid we shan't be able to save anything this year. When I get my salary raised, it will be time enough to think of that."

"Let me make a proposition to you," said Mrs. Newton. "You say one-half of your income has been expended on articles of food. Are you willing to allow me that sum for that purpose?"

"You guarantee to pay all bills out of it?"

"Yes."

"Then I will shift the responsibility upon you with pleasure. But I can tell you beforehand you won't be able to save much out of it."

"Perhaps not. At any rate I will engage not to exceed it."

"That's well. I shouldn't relish having any additional bills to pay. As I am paid every month, I will at each payment hand you half the money."

The different characters of husband and wife may be judged from the conversation which has been recorded. Mr. Newton had but little prudence or foresight. He lived chiefly for the present, and seemed to fancy that whatever contingencies might arise in the future, he would somehow be provided for. Now trust in Providence is a proper feeling, but there is a good deal of truth in the old adage that God will help those who will help themselves.

Mrs. Newton, on the contrary, had been brought up in a family which was compelled to be economical, and although she was not disposed to deny herself comforts yet she felt that it was desirable to procure them at a fair price.

The time that this conversation took place was at the commencement of the second year of their married life.

The first step which Mrs. Newton took, on accepting the charge of the household expenses, was to institute the practice of paying cash for all articles that came under her department. She accordingly called on the butcher and inquired.

"How often have you been in the habit of presenting your bills, Mr. Williams:"

"Once in six months," was the reply.

"And I suppose you have somtimes bad bills?"

"Yes, one-third of my profits, on an average, are swept off by them."

"And you could afford, I suppose, to sell somewhat cheaper for ready money?"

"Yes, and I would be glad if all my customers would give me a chance to do so."

"I will set them an example then," said Mrs. Newton. "Hereafter whatever articles shall be purchased of you will be paid for on the spot, and we shall expect you to sell as reasonable as you can."

This arrangement was also made with the others, who, it is scarcely needful to say were very glad to enter into the arrangement. Ready money is the great support of the trade, and a cash customer is worth two who purchase on credit.

Fortunately Mrs. Newton, had a small supply of money of her own which lasted till the first monthly installement for her husband became due. Thus she was enabled to carry out her cash plan from the beginning.

Another plan which occurred to her as likely to save expense, was to purchase articles in larger quantities. She had soon saved enough from the money allowed her to do this. For example, instead of buying sugar a few pounds at a time, she purchased a barrel, and thus saved a cent or more on the pound. This, perhaps, amounted to but a trifle in the course of a year, but the same system carried out in regard to other articles yielded a result which was by no means a trifle.

There were other ways in which a careful housekeeper is able to limit expense, Mrs. Newton did not overlook—with an object in view she was always on the lookout to prevent waste, and to get the full value of whatever was expended.

The result was beyond her anticipation.

At the close of the year, on examining her bank book—for she had regularly deposited whatever money she had not occasion to use in one of these institutions—she found that she had one hundred and fifty dollars, besides what she had sent for the money the first month, and having enough to last another.

"Well, Elizabeth, have you kept within your allowance?" asked her husband at this time. "I guess you have no found it so easy to save as you thought for."

"I have saved something, however," said his wife. "But how is it with you?"

"That's more than I can say. However I have not exceeded my income, that's one good thing. We have lived full as well, and I don't know but better than last year, when we spent five hundred."

"It's knack, Ezra," said his wife smiling.

She was not inclined to mention how much she had saved. She wanted some time or other to surprise him with it when it would be of some service.

"She may possibly have saved up twenty-five dollars," thought Mr. Newton, "or some such trifle," and so dismissed the matter from his mind.

At the end of the second year, Mrs. Newton's savings, including the interest, amounted to three hundred and fifty dollars, and she began to feel quite rich.

Her husband did not think to inquire how she had succeeded, supposing, as before, that it could be but a very small sum.

However he had a piece of goods news to communicate. His salary had been raised from a thousand to twelve hundred dollars.

He added: "As I before allowed you one half my income for household expenses, it is no more than fair I should do so now. That will give you a better chance to save part of it then before. Indeed, I don't know how you succeeded in saving anything thus far."

As before Mrs. Newton merely said that she had saved something without specifying the amounnt.

Her allowance was increased to six hundred dollars, but her expenses were not proportionally increased at all; so that her savings for the third year swelled to the aggregate sum in the savings bank to six hundred dollars.

Mr. Newton, on the contrary, in spite of his increased salary, was no better off at the end of the third year than before. His expenses had increased by a hundred dollars, though he would have found it difficult to tell in what way his comfort or happiness had been increased thereby.

In spite of his carelessness in regard to his own affairs, Mr. Newton was an excellent man in regard to his business, and his services were valuable to his employer. They accordingly increased his salary, from time to time, till it reached sixteen hundred dollars. He had steadily preserved the custom of assigning one-half to his wife for the same purpose, as heretofore, and this had become such a habit that he never thought to inquire whether she found it necessary to employ the whole or not.

Thus ten years rolled away. During all this time Mr. Newton lived in the same hired house for which he had paid an annual rent of one hundred and fifty dollars. Latterly, however, he had become dissatisfied with it. It had passed into the hands of a new landlord, who was not disposed to keep it in the repair which he considered desirable.

About this time a block of excellent houses were erected by a capitalist, who designed to sell them or let them as he might have an opportunity. They were more modern and much better arranged than the one in which Mr. Newton now lived, and he felt a strong desire to move in one of them. He mentioned it to his wife one morning.

"What is the rent, Ezra?" inquired she.

"Two hundred and twenty-five dollars for the corner house; two hundred for either of the others."

"The corner one would be preferable, on account of the side windows."

"Yes, and they have a large yard besides. I think we must hire one of them. I guess I'll engage one to-day; you know our year is out next week."

"Please wait, Ezra, till to-morrow before you engage one."

"For what reason?"

"I should like to examine the house."

Soon after breakfast Mrs. Newton called on 'Squire Bent, the owner of the new block, and intimated her desire to be shown the corner house. The request he readily complied with; Mrs. Newton was quite delighted with all the arrangements, and expressed her satisfaction.

"Are these houses for sale or to let?" she inquired.

"Either," said the owner.

"The rent is, I understand, two hundred and twenty-five dollars."

"Yes, I consider the corner house worth at least twenty-five dollars more than the rest."

"And what do you charge for the house to a cash purchaser?" asked Mrs. Newton with subdued eagerness.

"Four thousand dollars cash," was the reply, and that is but a small advance on the cost."

"Very well, I will buy it of you," added Mrs. Newton, quietly.

"What did I understand you to say?" asked the 'Squire, scarcely believing his ears.

"I repeat that I will buy this house at your price, and pay the money within a week."

"Then the house is yours. But your husband said nothing of his intention, and in fact I did not know—"

"That he had money to invest, I suppose you would say. Neither does he know it, and I must ask you not to tell him for the present."

The next morning Mrs. Newton invited her husband to take a walk, but without specifying the direction.

They soon stood in front of the house in which he desired to live.

"Wouldn't you like to go in?" she asked.

"Yes. It's a pity we havan't got the key," with which she walked up the steps and proceeded to open the door.

"When did you get the key of 'Squire Bent?" asked the husband.

"Yesterday, when I bought the house," said his wife quietly.

Mr. Newton gazed at his wife in profound astonishment.

"What on earth do you mean, Elizabeth?" he inquired.

"Just what I say. The house is mine, and what is mine is thine. So the house is yours, Ezra."

"Where in the name of goodness did you raise the money?" asked her husband, his amazement still as great as ever.

"I haven't been a managing wife for ten years for nothing," said Mrs. Newton, smiling.

With some difficulty Mrs. Newton per-[illegible] to be convinced that the house was really the result of her savings. He felt when he surveyed the commodious arrangements of the new house that he had reason to be grateful for the prudence of his managing wife.

Townships in North Carolina.

The naming of the Townships in North Carolina has given our Commissioners a grand opportunity to display their taste and powers of invention. In six counties they simply numbered them: One, two, &c. Here and there is a name that seems Indian, like Cheoah, Steeoah, Chicoa, Chocowinity, Shanonchaw, Eastatoee, Pusquittee and Catatoocha. Hyde county sounds musically with its Currituck, Ocracoke, Hatteras and Kinnekeet; while Macon mixes up Indian and English in Elijay, Cartoogachayo, Burning Pown, Cowee, Arlaska and Nantahala. What shall we say of Pokey, Icard and Quewhiffle and Beusalem?

The following seem to be original English compounds, Shoe Heel, Wolfscrape, Love Lady, Seventy First, Snake Bite, Six Pound, Nut Bush, Job's Cabin and Board Tree. Buncomb county believes there is something in corn and names her towns Upper and Lower Hominy and Sandy Mush. New Hanover is evidently loyal with her Grant, Holden, Lincoln, Columbia, Union and Federal Point. Nash county begins her roll with the grand trio, Washington, Liberty and Union. Randolph not only has Grant, Liberty and Union, but also adds a comely group of Trinity, Tabernacle, Concord and New Hope. Halifax shows a taste at once geographical and classic in her Arcadia, Buckaria, Caledonia, Dalmatia, Etruria, Formosa, Palmyra, all arranged in alphebetic order. Chowan names her three Townships Upper, Middle, Edenton or Lower.

Of the compound names of Townships many are found from the name of some creek, fork, river, hill or grove, a few from a bridge, spring, swamp or mountain, and one or two from a brook. Thus of Groves, three are Walnut, Piny, Cotton, Pleasant, Centre and Union: of Rivers, Broad, Deep, Little, (five of them) Upper Little, Flat, Black, Green, Dan, Davidson's, John's, Mill's, Caney, South Tar, Toe and Fork: of Forks, North, South, East, Middle, Upper, Lower, Sassafas, Sugar, Bushy, Stony, Jacob's and Lewis': of Hills, Gold Silver, Sand, Chesnut, Locust, Oak, Laurel, Primrose, Ceder, Olive, Pink, Green, Little, Spring, Tray, Chapel, Boon, Merry, Bug, Flea, Conrad, Jackson's and Hunter's.

But the Creeks are the most numerous tribe of names: Deep, Clear, Swift, Crooked, Long, Grassy, Sandy, Stony, Rock, Big Rock, Little Rock, Silver, Flat, Shoal, Fall, Cove, Mountain, Upper, Lower, Middle, Back, Shooting, Fishing, Lower Fishing Upper Fishing, Bear, Beaver, Crab, Elk, Goose, Horse, Otters, Cedar, Cypress, Lawrel, Piney, Walnut, Brush, Camp, Snow, Block, Cross, Paw, Knob, Pown, Glade, Peak, Abbott's, Avery's, Barton's, Blen's, Brummet's, Carver's, Cathey's Cheek's, Coodle, Duncan's, Duncan and Flinton, Fines, French's Flooper's, Flounte's Jacks, Johnathan's, King's, Lane's, Lawntown, Nallard's, Nark's, Nills, Peter's, Plather's, Reem's, Smith's Stagg's, Steele, Steward's, Stewart's, Trelche's, Trhete's.

Many of the single names of townships are names of Creeks &c., without having the word creek expressed. Other's are names of persons in the possessive case as Patterson's, Cable's &c., where the word "store" is evidently omitted. Others still are names of churches.

Most of the townships seem to have received names that were already established in them. They are generally easy to pronounce, though a few are too long. But the list ought to be revised so as to enforce the rule adopted for Post offices, no name thould be used more that once in the State. There are two Arcadia's, three Swift Creeks, three Pleasant Groves, two Oak Hills, two Pown Creeks, two Boones, and five Unions, and other like repetitions. Surely we are not so poor that we cannot afford the poorest township a name of is town. F. P. B.

Our Pins.

There are eight pin factories in the United States, whose annual production is 2,000,000 packs, each pack containing 2,360 pins, a total of 6,720,000,000 pins. One manufacturer's agent in Boston says the Bulletin, sells every six months from 700 to 1,000 cases of pins, each case containing 672,00 pins. The factory he represents turns out eight tons of pins per week. Hair-pins are jobbed by the cask. There is but one factory that produces them. They turn out fifty tons per month. The machine that cuts and bends the wire makes 360 hair pins per minute, ready for japaning. Yankee pins are salable in nearly every city of the world, and the production and consumption increases each year about ten per cent. A very large per centage of the hair pins in general use are imported. The tariff does not protect this item of American industry, hence the public pay for them just about one-third more than thep are worth. Yankee enterprise is now seeking to develop a more rapid manufacture, and a more desirable metal or substance, and in this way successfully complete with foreign makes and cut down the cost.

Democratic prospects have frequently been blighted by too ample an exposition of the principles of the party. Says an Ohio Democratic paper of the Vallandigham creed: "Four yards of platform is too much to stand on. Boil it down, make it four inches, and then we are for it."

Our Future Farmers.

The next great undertaking before the American people is the subjugation and development of the National Domain We have to subdue, that we may inherit, our generous portion of the earth. We are coming to the close of our first century, and, having attained such majority may enter upon and possess our estate. The wealth of the nation lies in the land, and we must dig it out. Nor can we delegate the task to the mainly ignorant laborers coming to us from other lands. we need to give to it our own intelligence and our own muscle—and we have shown that we are not the people to shirk such necessity. Indeed, we are already making a competent beginning—opening lines of transportation, making permanent peace with the Indians, learning the method of organized colonization—and may call ourselves fairly ready to go to work. Agriculture, then, is to be our [illegible] to be a nation of farmers: and it is worth while to consider what sort of farmers we are likely to turn out.

Man makes circumstances: circumstances make men. Accepting this antithesis, we should look for new types of character under the new conditions obtaining in this country, where, also, the requirements of good order are the only limit to freedom of development. We now afford some illustration of the aphorism; but the reaction of "circumstances" on men being the work of generations, we are yet too young to exhibit its effects in any notable instance—the conventional "Yanke" being an unreal creature, fast fading into tradition. Still we already give evidences of human power, peculiarly American, promising good results. We are outgrowing the wisdom of the world, and are destined to disprove those maxims that sum up the limits of human experience. That old saw, When Adam delved and Eve span, where was then the "gentleman?" involves, negatively, the assertion that manual labor is incompatible with grace and refinement. The refutation of this idea, heretofore dominant in civilization, we have now accomplished, and we shall not be long in dissipating it entirely. All there is of worth in the gentler experience of life shall be free to the delving Adam of the New World. With increasing facilities of communication, perfected means of education, and the larger returns to labor, secured by intelligence—the man who mows and hoes and holds "the plow" will command the best the world has to give of culture and social consideration.

More than this, we believe that no prize coveted by the higher ambitions shall be be-yond his reach. We trust that war is, with us, almost an impoible contingency; the occupation of the soldiey, with its brilliant triumphs, is, happily, gone. Our commerce has probably reached its hight, and the bulk of trade will hereafter be the distribution of domestic products, rather than the vast imports from which our merchant princes have derived their wealth. In politics we have virtually settled those questions which have occupied our leading men since the foundation of the Republic. The equality of civil right has been established fully and forever; and the policy of Protection to Home Industry is assured in the minds of our people beyond serious disturbance. We return, then, to the statement that the development of our natural sources of wealth—of which Agriculture is the first—must be the principle concern of this and the next generation. And who can doubt that, in these untried fields of achievment, our

THE SOUTHERN ALLIES OF THE REPUBLICANS OF THE NORTH.

Whatever hope there may have been for the success of the Democracy in the next Presidential election, the Ku-Klux and such Southern leaders as JEFFERSON DAVIS and ROBERT TOOMBS, are crushing it most effectually. They are making themselves allies to the Republican Party, aiding it most efficiently. First, the operations of the Ku-Klux awakened the North to the fact that the work of reconstruction was not yet completed, and now, following the operations of the Klan, appears JEEFERSON DAVIS on the platform, making speeches from which we briefly quote as follows:

"You honor me only as the representative of a cause which, [illegible] me—more precious even than life—and I glory in its rememberance."—Jefferson Davis, at Augusta, Ga., May 25. 1871.

"I don't believe I did any wrong."—"I am not of those who accept the situation. I accept nothing."—Jefferson Davis, at Atlanta, Ga., May 27, 1871.

And chiming in with DAVIS appears ROBERT TOOMBS declaring in a speech at Augusta, Ga:

"When you can tear the live thunder from its home in the burning ether and bind it a captive at the footstool of tyranny, then, and not till then, will I accept the situation."

The effect of such utterances, coming as they do from representative men of the "lost cause," will be to unite the North as in the last two Presidential elections, to the support of the Republican nominees. They will not remain indifferent while the ring leaders in the late rebellion go about the country trying to fan the flame that once deluged the land in blood.

NO CONFLICT.

The theory of government in this country is that of a Democratic Republic—a representative Democracy. In a simple Democracy, such as existed in ancient Athens, the people legislate for and govern themselves en masse. They delegate nothing to agents or representatives, but do everything in mass meeting style. But ours being a representative Democracy, we govern ourselves through our representatives, Legislative, Judicial and Executive. These are elected by the people and through them the laws are made, administered, and executed.

With this explanation, we can very easily understand the language of our Constitution. There is no conflict. The word people in section 3 of Article I is in entire harmony with the Legislature referred to in Article XIII. The people means the State, and the Legislature is the people's agent—their representatives. When the people call a convention it must be done through the agent which by the constitution, they have created for the purpose. It must be done in accordance with the law they have established. Any other course will be revolutionary, and by the higher authorities will be declared void.

Let it not be forgotten that while the people do everything; that while all political power is vested in and derived from them, it can only be exercised by them under their constitution and through the agents they have therein appointed to exercise it for them and in their name. This view is sustained by the highest authorities from Chief Justice STORY down. And it is common sense.

CONVERTED AT LAST.

The Democrats of the North are improving on the Bourbon course directing them in the past. For years they neither learned anything nor forgot anything. But this course kept them out of office and power. They have resolved upon a different course for the future. They not only seem anxious to forget the past—or have the country forget it so far as their record is concerned—but are showing evidence of having learned something. In Pennsylvania, in Convention assembled, they have gracefully accepted the situation. In Ohio VALLANDIGHAM has changed front in favor of progress and the great Democratic leader of Cincinnatti, Hon. Wm. S. GROESBECK, has declared:

"War legislates. History is full of its enactments. It has legislated here; its work is fixed, and let us hope ended. We shall not go backward."

And the Democratic leader of Massachusetts sounds the bugle note to the party in these words:

"The North can never be carried for a new revolution. We must go forward, and not back. We must demand self-government for all, and guarantee equal rights to every man. Democrats must be democratic to succeed."

Now this is good, sound doctrine. How do the Democrats of the South like it? We hear some of them declare that it is Republicanism. It looks like it we admit. It is an endorsement of what we have always advocated, and it is an evidence that we have not labored in vain when our political opponents acknowledge themselves converted to our principles.

We see the Democratic press of this State are in the habit of quoting the New York Sun as a "Radical Republican" paper. This is an error. The Sun is a sensational paper and is abusing Gen. GRANT because he didn't appoint its editor (DANA) Collector of the port of New-York.

The Democratic Address to the people of North Carolina is more addressed to the colored people than to the white! What in the world has become of the "White man's party" here in North Carolina? Will some of the oracles inform us?

STATE DEBT.

The carpet-bag editor of the Elizabeth City Carolinian is opposed to convention and in favor of paying the entire state debt; the infamous frauds perpetrated on the people to the contrary notwithstanding of course. This carpet-bagger has doubtlessly a hat full of our state bonds stolen from the people and forced upon the markets and sold at perhaps eighteen cents on the dollar. Of course he would sell out every homestead in the state to make his bonds good and then pack up and leave.—Raleigh Sentinel.

The above has but a single grain of truth in it—as near we believe as the Sentinel usually gets. We are opposed to the Convention for reasons which that journal, with all its sophistry, has not been able to controvert. Once let the Convention be carried and the delegates will snap their fingers at all oaths and restrictions imposed by the act, and neither the homestead or other rights guaranteed to the poor will be safe. As to the State debt, we have, in former issues, proven that it cannot be relieved by tinkering at the Constitution. We are not in favor of repudiation, but we are in favor of honorable compromise. We believe the debt can be reduced within the limits of the State's ability to pay,—reduced by an arrangement that will be satisfactory to its creditors and without any taint on its honor. As for owning any of the State bonds, we never have nor do we now possess a single dollar of them, old or new. [illegible] the people sold to pay for any fraudulently contracted debt we are in favor of the Constitution as it is because it beneficently secures this right.

As for being a "carpet-bagger," we happen to belong to the class that settled every State in this Union, even North Carolina—coming with capital and industry to develope, improve and build up. And while we are not given to vain boasting, we venture that we have invested more capital and own more property to day in this State than does the man who wrote the above editorial in the Sentinel. Nay more; if the testimony of members of his own party is worth anything we have in the past two years contributed more for the material interests of the State than has the Sentinel man all his life. A nice man, truly, to read us a lecture. We submit that he would be better engaged in publishing the truth than playing the role of the demagogue.

THE DIFFERENCE.

It is a common mistake—that of men attempting to measure other people by their own bushel. Those who have no elevated standard are too apt to conclude the world influenced by no higher moral purpose than themselves. This is the error of the Democracy. Calling evil good and good evil, it don't understand that there is any such a thing as honesty in politics. Though the name Democracy is a misnomer when applied to their political organization, it still clings to the empty title. Notwithstanding it has, one by one, killed the prophets and stoned to death the men who could and would have led it aright, it keeps on in its course in the "downward way." Instead of being a democratic, it has become a despotic party. It is no longer ruled by men in sympathy with our free institutions and the progress of the age, but rather by those who have stubbornly resisted that progress and who are seeking to carry the country back to the errors and darkness of the past.

Such men totally misinterpet the aims and purposes of Republicanism. They cannot realize that it is not merely a party—not the center of a certain political interest—not a combination of a "ring" of politicians just to keep one set of men in office and to keep the other out. It is something better and worthier than all of these. It is a great and good CAUSE upon which the consciences and hearts of a host of inteligent and patriotic minds are fixed with a superb constancy of devotion and zeal. And it is the just and rightous principles underlying Republicanism which constitute its meaning and strength. But for these, supported by the true and earnest men of the land, the cause of democratic republican government—a "government of the people, by the people, and for the people" would have perished from the earth.

Republicanism has not yet fulfilled its high mission in this land. Its principles have not lost their power, nor its measures their virtue. Its intrinsic merits must continue to attract the better elements of society. It must continue to educate the people by the firm and courageous assertion of its wise doctrines, weaving them into the frame work of our institutions, and proving their worth by demonstration and actual experience.

THE OPINION OF CHIEF JUSTICE RUFFIN.

The late Chief Justice RUFFIN was one of the most profound jurists of this country. His opinions everywhere commanded the highest respect. In a letter published in the Wilmington Journal in July 1866 he declared that a Convention of the people called under the Constitution of this State, in any other mode than by the General Assembly, "two thirds of all the members of each House concurring," would be "an unauthorized body, and, therefore no more than a voluntary collection of so many men—a caucus"—that "its acts would be void"—that "no confirmation of its acts could be derived from a vote of the people"—that—the Constitution having prescribed two distinct modes of amendment—"all other modes are excluded by irresistable inference."

It appears to us that this ought to satisfy every North Carolinian about the legality of the present Convention movement. We are glad to know that our position on the question is thus sustained by such eminent authority.

Why don't some of the Stump speakers who take up so much time in delivering their rambling Convention speeches devote a few minutes time in making the amende honorable by retracting the slander they perpetrated before the election about the squandering of the school money by the Republicans? Why don't they tell the people that the Committee—Messrs LOVE and WORTH—found every dollar safe in the Treasury.

The Democracy of Ohio held their State Convention on the 1st inst. After a stormy session the VALLANDIGHAM'S "new departure" platform was adopted by a vote of 395 to 129. When the vote was announced scores of delegates left the hall, saying: "Let us join the Republicans at once; we have been sold out." "The Republicans have got us now," &c.

They nominated Col. G. W. M. COOK for Governor. He made a speech accepting the nomination but repudiating the platform. Threats have been made to force him off the ticket. HILL, the leader of the North-Western Democracy, was named for Lieutenant-Governor, but he immediately withdrew his name, saying that he would not accept a nomination nor an election on such a platform. There is anything but harmony in the Democratic wigman of the Buckeye State.

The New Orleans Times, a Democratic paper confesses that there is a great need of some change in the Democratic plan and strategy. The old ones have proved sad failures in all recent contests. But the word "departure" is too strongly indicative of a sudden conversion and total change of heart and conduct, to please the masses of that somewhat impracticable and self-sufficient party. It is true the spoils have long been denied to them, and doubtless, like the weak-kneed of Israel, they hunger after the flesh-pots of Egypt. But it sees no hope in anything inaugurated by the "old party hacks, speech makers and platform builders," and insists that those veteran organizers of defeat, the Valandighams, the Campbells, et al., retire upon such laurels as they have already won, and snuff the approaching battles, like Job's horses, a far off.

It is amusing to see the effort now made by the Democracy to construct a platform for their party out of Republican timber. Of course we understand it, and so do the people. It is clearly an attempt of a few hungry wire-pullers, who want to smuggle themselves into office under false colors. And yet these wire-pullers are controlling the Conventions of the party in the Northern States. Whether they will be able to carry the voters with them at the polls is another matter. The regular copperheads in the North and those in the South who believe with JEFF DAVIS that the "lost cause" is not lost, are not willing to follow in the line of the "new departure." A regular flare up and split are imminent in the Democratic ranks.

The Democratic legislature neglected to levy any tax to carry on the Public Schools, but they did levy $200,000 to pay the money borrowed at eight per cent to pay the expenses of the HOLDEN persecution, and to pay the per-diem of the Assembly.

GOV. BRAGG is reported to be the author of the late Democratic Address to the people of North Carolina. Isn't it a little singular that the position he now takes on the Convention question is diametrically opposite from the one taken and maintained by him in 1854?

A new Republican paper—the Carolina Era—is about to be started at the State Capitol. The first number will be issued to-day.

Correspondence.

From our Winton Correspondent.

WINTON, N. C., May 30, 1871.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

The cotton season being fairly begun, it may be interesting to some of your readers to hear what the farmers of this section may be doing.

Notwithstanding the now "old," but by no means pleasant, song of "low prices" for cotton, our largest planters have made preparations for a crop, as large as that of last year; though the farmers of one and two horse force, apprehending a repetition of last fall's prices, have planted less of cotton and more of grain, which is as it should be, for the scarcity of corn and provender for stock has become a serious matter with us here; and the appearance of most of the working teams of our poorer laborers indicate a want of something more substantial, and more of it. Sad result of the "cotton fever" last season! Why will not the farmers here learn as they have so often seen, and even admit, that the only way in which growing cotton in this part of the country can be made to pay is as a surplus crop?

Fertilizers are extensively used here, and selling at the usual prices, while cotton falls, cannot fail to throw many of our farmers behind at the end of the year. In this county, however, a great many planters have made and applied Kapnophyte to their farms, this season. This is a new fertilizer, produced by smothering combustion of pine straw and other vegetable matter, and discovered by E. Whitley, Esq., of the firm of E. Whitley & Co., Murfreesboro, the proprietors and patentees. From certificates to be seen at their office, it is shown that 50 loads, which can be made by one man in a day, with little or no expense, applied to an acre of ground is equal to the usual quantity of Guano, applied to the same amount of land. Kapnophyte was first used, with one or two exceptions, last year, and was patented July 12, 1870. This year, it being more generally used, a fair test of its merits will be made. If it proves to be what the proprietors claim for it, there will undoubtedly be a revolution in cheap fertilizers in the South. And it is to be hoped that such will be the case, and that it may entirely supercede the doubtful compounds sold to Southern farmers by Northern Commission Merchants, and for which the farmer pays a large proportion of all he makes. It is to say the least of it entitled to the consideration of those who endeavor to farm profitably and intelligently.

The citizens of Murfreesboro and vicinity are very much exercised at present upon the subject of the Roanoke and Tar River Railroad, running through that place and making connection with the Seabord and Roanoke Rail Road, at a point not more than twelve miles from Murfreesboro. Several enthusiastic meetings have been held to consider the matter, and from $18,000 to $20,000 have already been subscribed by citizens of the town and surrounding community, to aid in building the road through the town. If the friends of the enterprize succeed, their success will, undoubtedly, be the making of Murfreesboro, which now seems to have attained its maximum of size and commercial interest, for want of better facilities for communication with other points. A delegation has has been appointed to be present at the next meeting of those interested in the Roanoke and Tar River Rail Road and present the matter before them for their consideration.

A.

Europe.

From the papers of the 30th we learn that Military law has been established in Paris. Executions are progressing at the Champs de Mars, the Park de Monceaux and the Hotel de Ville. From fifty to a hundred insurgents are shot at a time. Nearly every member of the Commune was shot or executed immediately after capture. No one is permitted to leave Paris without a pass signed by Marshal Mc-Mahon. The troops, fearing incendiary fires, have caused all the cellar gratings and other openings to be hermetically sealed. Three thousand prisoners arrived in Paris on Sunday. The disarming of the National Guards is proceeding. The population of Paris are enthusiastic over their deliverance. The Western and Orleans Railway lines were opened yesterday to goods traffic. Provisions are scarce and the markets quite empty. Gen Changarnier, yesterday, in the Assembly, defended the surrender of Metz by Marshal Bazaine. An investigation into all the capitulations to the Germans is to be made. A motion to erect a monument to the murdered hostages was offered. The Swiss Federal Council has decided that fugitives from France, proved to be guilty of ordinary crimes, after an investigation in each case, shall be surrendered to the French authorities. A Brussels paper circulated a report yesterday that the Germans had seized letters from leading members of the Commune, disclosing a conspiracy to incite insurrection in Belgium by the fugitive Communists. The treaty of naturalization between Austria and the United States has been ratified by the Reichrath.

From the papers of the 1st we learn that M. Ernest Picard has resigned the portfolio of Minister of the Interior in the Thiers Cabinet, and becomes Governor of the Bank of France. He is succeeded by M. Victor Lefranc. Gen. Le Flo has retired from the War Office to go to St. Petersburg as French Ambassador, and will be succeeded by Gen. Cissey. The Monde announces that the Prince De Joinville and the Duke D'Aumale have proclaimed their adherence to the manifesto of the Count De Chambord, and that the fusion of the Legitimists and Orleanists is complete. The Belgian Representatives have rejected a resolution of regret at the expulsion of Victor Hugo, and one of the Ministers denounced what he termed the complicity of intellectual malefactors with the crimes of the Commune. A society to prevent the resumption of intercourse between Frenchmen and Germans has been formed in Havre. A high Turkish official has gone to St. Petersburg with the insignia of the Imperial order of Osmanie for the Czar, and other distinctions for members of the Ministry. The Austrian Government has consented to Baron von Lederer's presiding over the arbitration of the claims of the United States against Spain, growing out of the Cuban revolt.

From the papers of the 2nd we learn that there is much diversity of opinion among the Paris journals as to the future of the country. The majority, however, favor the continuance of the republic. The Figaro prefers a monarchy. Prince Napoleon, in a letter to M. Favre, condemns the proclamation of forfeiture of the Empire, and demands of the authorities a plebiscite on the question of the future form of government. The sale of newspapers in the streets is prohibited. Summary executions have ceased. The prisoners are on trial at Versailles. Four hundred barricades were found in Paris. Large numbers of Frenchmen and foreigners are returning to Paris to resume their commercial and manufacturing operations. The Versaitles troops are not so popular as when they entered Paris, owing to their severitp toward the population. Two more members of the Commune, MM. Frankell and Fontaine, have been arrested. M. Jules Favre has resigned. The Marquis De Gabriae goes to Berlin June 3 as the French Ambassador. Two regiments of the Prussian Guards have returned to Germany and their places have been supplied by other troops.

From the papers of the 3rd we learn that none of the securities in the Bank of France were disturbed during the rule of the Commune, though the officers were forced to advance considerable sums of money. Two thousand of the Communists are to be imprisoned in old vessels at Cherbourg. The abrogation of proscription laws has been moved in the French Assembly, including those specially aimed at the Bourbons. Rochefort is to be tried by military commission. Victor Hugo is in London. The Pope has sent 60,000 francs to be distributed among the suffering Parisians. The 18th of June is to be observed as a day of thanksgiving in Germany. The Portuguese Cortes have been dissolved and a new election will take place in July. A new Turkish loan of £6,000 has been included.

From the papers of the 5th we learn that the form of government engages the attention of the French Assembly and the Press, and the presence of the Orleans Princes is found to be embarrassing. M. de Girardin advocates, a Liberal Republic, like that of the United States or the Swiss Confederation. A resolution will be offered in the Assembly to prolong the term of M. Thiers' power. Diplomatic relations with Germany will soon be resumed. Father Hyacinthe, in a recent letter, advises the union of the Latin races against the Germans and Sclaves, and attributes the acts of the Commune to irreligion, the result of neglect on the part of the Empire and the Church to educate the people—the former through its devotion to Cæsarism, and the latter from preoccupation with dogmatic questions The gates of Paris are closed at 9 o'clock at night, and cavalry patrol the streets till morning. The arrivals of foreigners are daily increasing. The uncaptured Communists who bore arms are estimated at 50,000 and the Police are in constant danger of violence at their hands. M. Grousset, a prominent member of the Commune, has been arrested, and minute search is constantly made for M. Pyat. Executions continue at Versailles. Numerous arrests are still made in Paris. A preliminary investigation is made at the Theatre du Chatelet, and the prisoners are then sent to Cherbourg, where ten Courts-martial have been instituted for their trial. Effective measures for the defense of the city are on foot. The gendermes are to be increased to a force of 6,000 men, and a Republican guard of 12,000 is also to be formed. It is proposed to construct forts within the walls to prevent a renewal of the insurrection. The commission to reorganize the army has decided in favor of all Frenchmen being compelled to serve.

A patron of a certain newspaper once said to the publisher: "Mr. Printer, how is it you have never called on me for pay for your paper?" "Oh," said the man of types, "we never ask a gentleman for money." "Indeed," replied the patron, "how do you manage to get along when they don't pay you?" "Why," said the editor, "after a certain time we conclude he is no gentleman and we ask him." "Oh—ah—yes—I see. Mr. Editor, please give me a receipt," and hands him a V. "Make my name all right on your books."

Gov. Scott, of South Carolina, offers $500 apiece for Kuklux.

A Secret.

William Wirt's lettter to his daughter on the "small sweet courtesies of life," contains a passage from which a great deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasant to others is to show them attention. The whole world is like the miller at Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he, because nobody cared for him." And the whole world would serve you so if you gave them the cause. Let every one see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so happily called the small courtesies, in which there is no parade, whose voice is too still to tease, and which manifest them-selves by tender and affectionate looks and little acts of attention, giving others the preference in every little employment, at the table, in the field, walking, sitting and standing."

General Summary.

After reading Darwin, monkeys should always be spoken of as members of "the oldest families."

Three Vice-Presidents have died in office, George Clinton, Elbridge Gerry and Wm. R. King.

Illinois papers mention the serious illness of Hon. Sydney Breese, Chief-Justice of the Supreme Court of that State.

There is a family in Vermont consisting of five sisters, who are all over ninety years old, and of three brothers all over eighty years old.

A Texas paper prints a list of 109 persons murdered by Indians in eleven years in one county in that State. Among the killed were many women and children.

An Illinois farmer flew into a rage in a dispute with his son on Saturday, and, snatching up a gun, shot him in the head, killing him instantly.

Henry L. Hurlburt, a temperance lecturer, has been lodged in jail on complaint of making an assault while drunk on a young man in Whitestown, N. Y.

A very learned man in Georgia, Professor in the State University, predicts much rain this year. He says fifteen inches is "due."

Four fashionable young men have taken a cottage together at Newport for the summer. They intend to give select dinner parties, keep a man cook, and drive a four-in-hand.

The Cincinnati Commercial referring to the Vallandigham trouble, says this is the bitterest hour for the Democracy since the surrender of Lee.

The Elmira Gazette publishes the following personal among its advertisements; "Sam, don't come to-night. Father is home, and has brought a new dog.

"Sallie G."

It is easy to say that Jeff. Davis is "politically dead," but when the leading, influential citizens of Georgia and South Carolina flock around him and applaud his utterances what then?

The Indianapolis Journal expresses its amazement at the facility with which leading Democrats throw aside and disregard the "eternal principles" of their party in these latter days.

New-Haven boasts of a horse-chestnut tree that blossoms on one side only one year, on the other side the next year, for six successive years, and then interrupts the regularity by blossoming all over on the seventh year.

C. A. Trench of Columbia County, Penn., has recently built an excellent office entirely of manila paper manufactured in his own mill. Everything is made of paper but the floor, doors, and windows.

The Bridal tide is setting strongly to Saratoga, and the gentlemanly and urbane hotel clerks have their hands full attending to it. Twenty-three pin-feathered couples dined at one table the other day.

Texas papers tell of a man who, after being buried five days by the caving in of a well, was rescued alive, and ate, drank, smoked and said he was all right, and a few hours after began to sink and died without a struggle.

A Harvard graduate, who is now swinging a sledge-hammer in a mine in Utah, writes home that he believes that the days of Mormonism will be short, and that the Mormon girls particularly are down on polygamy, manifesting a willingness in all cases to marry a Gentile rather than a Mormon.

The two candidates for Governor of Kentucky are on the stump together. Gov. Leslie, the Democratic nominee, said, in reply to Gen. Harlan, a few days ago, that the Democracy do not propose to oppose the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, or to disturb the rights of the colored people under them; but when the opportunity was afforded for their repeal, or their being set aside by the proper tribunals, they would favor such action.

The Indianapolis Journal testifies to the wonderful usefulness of Vallandigham to the Republican party. He gave the Republicans the grandest victory they ever won in Ohio. He prepared such a platform for McClellan, at Chicago, as to make the reelection of Lincoln a certainty. He caused the nomination of Seymour, by a dramatic performance overdone in Tammany Hall. And now, The Journal is of opinion, he has provided for the reelection of Gen. Grant.

The latest advices from Mexico say the prospects for the re-election of Juarez to the Presidency brighten, and that there may be only a slight revolution against him. A bill has been introdneed in Congrass, prepared by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, which is designed to compel foreigners to become citizens under conditions that shall make them easy subjects of plunder. Foreigners are manifestly in bad repute, for the Journals characterize them as pernicious.

Miss Barbara Caswell, of Virginia, has just recovered $2,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage from Randal Waddel. A correspondent writes that the address of the young and rapidly-rising counsel for the fair plaintiff was characterized by the most striking arguments, the finest sense of delicacy, the widest range of thought, the purest principles of morality and social life, an irresistible force of statement, and an oratory as brilliant as was ever listened to in the Wythe Court-house.

There is a novel law-suit in Chenango County N. Y. just at present, brought by Miss Evans against Curtis Cooper, of Guilford, on a contract made fifteen years ago. The Fulton Times gives the particulars in these words: "Mr. Cooper agreed to give Miss Evans one ewe lamb and its increase until she was twenty-one years of age, in consideration of a gold watch key. The suit was brought before Justice Newell to recover the sheep or its equivalent. The evidence showed that the increase was to be in ewe lambs, and that the natural increase of a flock of sheep would double every year. According to this estimate Miss Susie would have at the end of fifteen years 16,064 ewe lambs, which, at $4 per head, would amount to $64,256. Justice Newell heard the evidence, and like a wise man reserved his Judgment."

A detachment of U. S. Troops is stationed at Mooresboro, Cleaveland county.

"What is your consolation in life and death?" asked a Sunday-school superintendent of a young lady in the Bible class, who blushed and said, "I'd rather be excused from speaking his name."

An old lady named Young, in Old Lyme, Conn., dreamed thrice in succession that treasure was buried in a certain locality. She and her daughter went to the spot, dug for it and found it—not enough to make them independently rich, but enough to make them wonder what stuff dreams are made of.

An Arkansas woman named Emily Sarah Lord is reported to have had nine husbands in ten years. Two died with suspicious suddenness and three were divorced. What has become of the rest is not stated. An exchange says she is misnamed, for evidently she is an Emma-Sarah of Satan.

Dr. Arnold, of the Rugby School, England, made this reply to one who asked him why he continued to study his lessons over and over previous to going before his class to teach. "Because I prefer my students should be supplied from a running stream rather than a stagnant pool."

A Cincinnati man is searching for a clerk who once in a while forgets to inquire of every customer, "Anything else?" He insists that the vile and insulting phrase is equivalent to: "Are you sure you have got all you wanted? Think now; haven't you forgotten something you came for?"

The Atlanta Sun says this is the way a Georgia witness "explained it:" "The plaintiff altered, amended, explained and expounded, but all to no purpose, as the lawyer either could not or would not understand. "I want you," he said, "to show me how the assault was committted, so that I may have a correct understanding of it." The plaintiff sprang up instantly, seized the legal gentleman by the coat with both hands, pressed him back across the bar, and shook him violently to the amusement of all present, and to the aforesaid lawyer's entire enlightment.

A gay old widower in Indiana, who has passed his half-century anniversary, went down to Indianapolis on Tuesday to pass a few days with a married friend. On the way from the depot he bemoaned his lonely existence, and confidentially informed his friend that he would marry again if he could find a lady of suitable years. Now, as it happened, the friend had a lady friend, a good-looking widow, who, he thought, would please, the widower. Accordingly, he invited her to dinner that same day. She came; the acquaintance seemed mutually agreeable; in a remarkably short time a charming intimacy was developed; on Thursday afternoon the couple went out riding together; and at 8 o'clock in the evening they were married.

On the 11th of April last the town of Bathing, Province of Szchuen, China, was leveled by an earthquake, the shocks of which were so severe that dwellings, temples, storehouses and fortifications crumbled. All the inhabitants in the falling buildings were crushed to death. Fires broke out in the ruins, which were driven furiously by the wind, and continued for five days. Of the people, soldiers and lamas, (or priests,) 2,298 were crushed to death, including also the local Magistrate and his deputy. The earthquake extended over an area of 400 miles, and continued about ten days. The greatest consternation and distress prevailed throughout the region, but the imperial authorities at last accounts had relieved the distress, and to some extent provided shelter for the survivors.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects. They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisements in this issue.
Atlantic Hotel.
Tax Payers.
Dr. Krebs & Co.
Notice.
Insane Asylum.

Local and Personal.

☞ His Honor Judge POOL, will hold Court in Currituck next week.

☞ Several of the new advertisements this week are important. Read them.

☞ Mr. J. C. PERRY has commenced shipping Peaches.

☞ The Story of "The Managing Wife" on our first page is worth reading, especially by those beginning housekeeping.

☞ J. M. WEED, Esq., President of the Land and Lumber Company, left for the North yesterday morning. He will return about the 20th.

☞ We advise everybody going to Beaufort to stop at the Atlantic Hotel. See advertisement in this issue. As a summer retreat it is said to be second to none in the State.

☞ Capt. WATERS informs us that his oats is over five feet high. A little a head of us. And our friend Maj. ABBOTT, of South Mills, has left several stalks at our office measuring five feet three inches. We give up.

☞ A number of the young folks of our city had a pleasant excursion down the River on Thursday evening last on the Steamer "Thomas Jefferson." A "gay and happy" time is reported.

☞ In reply to "Student" we would say that Almanacs were first regularly published by the Greeks of Alexandria, in Ptolemy's time. The earliest printed Almanac of which we have any information was published in 1475.

☞ A correspondent writes us that he has examined the matter and is satisfied that the only mention of paper money in the Bible is when it says the dove brought the "green back" to Noah. He is mistaken. When the twelve were sent out, they were commanded to take no "scrip" with them.

☞ We are requested to announce that "Pitts Chapel"—a new Church of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Denomination—will be dedicated on Sunday June 18th. This Church is located at Beech Grove in Nixonton township, this county. The dedicatory services will be made as interesting as possible.

☞ "A Young Reader" asks: "What is the shortest verse in the Bible?" The Thirty-fifth verse of the eleventh chapter of John, "Jesus wept." The next shortest has but three words, and is the thirty-second verse of the seventeenth chapter of Luke.

☞ We acknowledge a kind invitation to attend the Annual Commencement at Wake Forrest College, which takes place on the 21st, 22d and 23d, of June. The address before the Literary Societies will be delivered by the Rev. J. L. Curry, of Richmond; Va., and the sermon before the graduating class by the Rev. J. D. Hufham, of Warsaw, N. C. A social entertainment will be given in Literary Halls complimentary to the graduating class.

☞ The Northern friends of Dr. WM. UNDERWOOD and his estimable lady gave them a Surprise Party on Friday evening last. Over a hundred in all—ladies and gentlemen, young and old—were present. They went amply prepared with the substantials as well as the luxuries of the season, and made the tables fairly groan with their load of good things. It was a surprise to the Doctor and his family, as they had been kept in profound ignorance of the matter until the crowd, by concert of action, "rushed on" to them all in a body. As he had been holding regular appointed meetings at his house for over a year, his friends thought it not improper for them to appoint and hold one. It was largely attended and all felt that it was good for them to be there.

☞ The new Board of City Commissioners met and organized on Monday. The condition of the Finances—receipts and expenditures—were examined and a statement will be published. All the outstanding Corporation orders will be called in. Committees on revision of Ordinances and other important matters were appointed, to report at another meeting on Monday. We understand it to be the intention hereafter to publish the proceedings of each meeting. This is right. The tax payers are interested and are entitled to know what is being done. We hope the new Board will have the hearty co-operation of all our citizens in their efforts to improve the city and advance the public good.

☞ Our Northampton correspondent will accept our thanks for his kind letter. His endorsement of the NORTH CAROLINIAN is gratifying. He appreciates and understands the difference between the liberty of the press and the license of the press. We would that it was understood and practiced by every editor in America. While the editor is justified in dealing boldly with public matters and public men in connection with them, he should ever remember that private character is private property, owned by that most sacred of all circles, the family circle, and that the man who needlessly assails it, is as much a criminal as if he robbed the household of its dearest treasures, or plucked from it, for his own base uses, its fairest flower. He should understand not only the power of the press, but its proper uses, and its great mission. We hold that the man who controls a newspaper has no more right to indite libels and stamp private reputation, than the owner of a uniform and a sword has to cut and kill to please his fancies, or to gratify his malice.

☞ We learn, through a reliable source, that the prospects of the Edenton and Suffolk Railroad are brightning. We feel an interest in this enterprize and are gratified in hearing such good news. When that is built our Railroad will soon follow.

☞ Dr. SPEED will repeat his Convention speech at Currituck on Monday next. We hope the Democracy on that occasion will not be as impolite as they were last week at Camden—interrupt him in order to give some of them a chance to orate. We protest against this and insist that our Senator shall be treated with the respect due his position.

☞ We are gratified to be able to State that the prospects of the Land and Lumber Company at this place are better than they have been since its organization. This Company has done much for this section and it will accomplish a great deal more. It is composed of live, active, enterprizing and honorable men. They have the confidence of our people and it is encouraging to know that their future is so auspicious.

☞ A correspondent from Woodville sends us an account of a singular case in that vicinity—that of a young lady named EMALINE DUDLEY who has frequent attacks of spasms, during which she swallows pins, needles, brass buttons, etc. From the account, which we can scarcely credit, there is something mysterious about the case. Miss DUDLEY is 20 years of age, and she lives in the family of Rev. DAWSEY SANDERLIN.

☞ From letters published in the Norfolk Journal from different parts of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia, we learn that the wheat crop has been a very short one. The cotton, because of the cool weather of the Spring, very much backward and not a full stand. The corn prospect fair. The oats generally good, though somewhat injured by the rust. The Irish potato crop up to an average one. Plums plenty. Apples a short crop. The peach crop a good one.

☞ List of Patents issued from the U. S. Patent Office to North Carolina Inventors, for the week ending May 30, 1871. Furnished the NORTH CAROLINIAN by Cox & Cox, Solicitors of Patents, Washington, D. C. Railroad Switch, J. E. Kea, Magnolia. Compound for cure of Cancer, J. Harrison, Castalia. Globe Valve, M. Murphy, Charlotte. Cotton Seed Planter, P. E. Smith, Scotland Neck. Process of Utilizing Cotton Bolls, J. Hughes, New Berne. Apparatus for Fumigating Photographic Paper, J. L. Winner, Elizabeth City.

He has no sympathy with this colonization movement.

The Internal Revenue officers have made several seizures of liquor in Oxford for not confirming to gaugers brand.

The Lynchburg Virginian has unfurled "the spotless banner of the White Man's Party," and proclaims that such an organization is a necessity of the times. Not any new departure for it.

A quaint friend of ours in Maine once called on President Lincoln. He had shaken hands with him, observing, "Don't be scared, Mr. Lincoln, I do not want an office." "Is that so?" said the President, "then give us another shake."

Women are rapidly marching forward to complete emancipation. A beautiful and well-educated young lady has just opened a large boot and shoe store in Philadelphia. She has three girl clerks, and they all wear little fancy aprons made of leather, so as to look business like, at the same time pretty.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

How to Raise Turkeys.

I have noticed several articles in your paper upon this subject, and I have tried all the remedies therein mentioned and many others for the diseases to which infantile turkeys are subject. As farmer for the Hon. Wentworth of Chicago, Ill., I have for years been trying, irrespective of every other consideration, to increase the weight of turkeys. I know it has been the fashion to have turkeys of the bronze color; but I have made the color secondary to size. I have never kept a small turkey because its color was bronze, nor rejected a large one because it was not. We could get our gobblers up to forty pounds; but after that, every ounce counted, and such size seemed contrary to nature in every respect. Their roost was so near to the ground and they were so indisposed to "squalk," that it was a very easy and safe thing for thieves to catch them and carry them away. But the most difficult of all things, however was to raise them at all.

We had our grease made of fresh butter and hog's lard. We had the pepper corn, the mustard seed, the ground pepper and ground mustard for stimulas, and new milk, butter milk, curd, whey, etc., for food.

But a large majority of them would die when young, and those that we raised were too lazy to fly to a roost beyond the reach of thieves. While we had hopes of getting a fifty pound turkey, we endured all this with patience. But the fifty lbs. would not come, nor the forty-five. Yet we could almost get the forty-five or thought so, depending upon a great variety of circumstances. When any one wants to tell a big turkey story, let him say "over forty." That is just as far as he can safely go. A man once said of a three year old gobbler of ouos, "if nothing happens he will weigh forty-five." —But death happened and he died in the forties, almost forty-four; and we gave up trying.

After this we bent our efforts to raising more turkey, even although they would be smaller. Mr. Wentworth went to the West and got me wild turkeys from three different places.—None of them were at all domesticated.—We made two large inclosures and ginged the wild ones, confining the wild males with the tame females, and the wild females with the tame males. The experiment was a success. Nearly every egg hatched and scarce a turkey died. In the fall we turned the wild ones out with the main flock and not one went away. They were not separated afterwards, and last season they were left to their own course. The most of them stole their nests and many would hide their young. But in due time they all come home, and two years' experience has demonstrated to us that the best way to raise turkeys is to give them the wild cross and let them alone.—While we have no difficulty in driving them into barns and sheds by day, they are perfectly inaccessible by night. They not only fly to the tops of the highest trees and buildings, but they are alive to every attempt to approach them. The wild cross gives a richer flavor to the meat and a more glistening bronze to the color.—Henry Hay, Summit Cook Co., Ill., 1874., in Rural New Yorker.

Cotton Seed for Manure.

E. W. H. of the University of Mississippi, writes the Rural South Land as follows: The common observation of farmers that previously heated cotton seed is a very slow manure, does not at all prove that its decomposition is too slow to render its mineral or ash ingredients available to the first crop. The experience of any one who has handled cotton seed meal proves the reverse; and the indubitable fact that the latter is not only as good, but a much better fertilizer than the whole seed, does not prove at all that the nitrogen contained in both is their mainly active element of fertility.

I have lately analyzed whole seed that had remained in the soil for twelve months, having heated without germinating. It still contained seventy-five per cent of all the phosphates present in the fresh seed.

But where the hull had been broken to the least extent, either by germination or otherwise, not a trace of the contents remained; the roots had consumed it all.

Moreover, cotton seed allowed to heat between layers of soil, kept moist, and shoveled over repeatedly and thoroughly, (whereby ninety per cent, or more of the hulls are broken) forms, in the course of some months a most energetic and efficient manure.

While, therefore, in the whole seed the hull prevents the access of the roots to the soil ingredients stored up in the kernel, so that the gaseous products alone can benefit the crops the first year; the seed-cake meal on the contrary, yields up all the fertilizing ingredients it contains to the grst crop, and that in the course of a few weeks, if called for, as experiments have shown.

In order to make the entire ingredients —phosphates, potash, ammonia and all— available the first year, it is only necessary either to crush the seed, whether whole or hulled, fresh or killed by heating; or allowed to germinate, which by simple precaution can be done without any loss of "nitrogen," (say rather ammonia.)—Whether, however, all things considered, the crushing process may not, upon proper conditions, be most profitably to the oil mill, is a question I will not now discuss. But you may depend upon it that whenever we shall take proper care to remove the impediment offered by the cotton seed hull to the assimilation of soil ingredients by the roots, they will become fully available the first year; and the "nitrogen" will then, as usual, take care of itself.

Poultry—Raising Geese.

Goslings cannot be too highly fed, and anything in the shape of meal, bread, grain, onions, cabbages, in abundance, may be set before them with safety. Some who think they ought to give them all the care they can prepare some pellets or little balls of barley meal, and give them milk to drink. Barley meal mixed with water, and coarse oat meal mixed in, makes a very nice food till the goslings get a little strength.

A large trough is all that geese need. They are far less hydropathically inclined than most people think. They ought to have a chance to bathe occasionally.

Goslings are much hardier than the young of any other kind of poultry.

The Bremen is perhaps the best, all things considered, but the White China is the most desirable, as it certainly is the most graceful of any. Four or five eggs are as many as a hen can take of properly. The great advantage of the Chinese goose is that she will begin to lay usually early in February, so that by using hens for setting, the goslings can be got along early.

The food of geese is of the coarsest kind usually, hence under good management they are very profitable.—Mass Ploughman.

Peter Schwab, one of the Judges of Election in the Second Ward of Hamilton, Ohio, has been held to bail in $4,000 to appear before the Sixth District Court of the United States, on a charge of fraudulently introducing and counting over 50 votes for Campbell at the election last Fall. Campbell's majority over Schenck, it will be remembered, was only 62 in a poll of 29,623.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL,

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotank county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3,000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $1,000, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, popler, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

A valuable small farm ½ of a mile from E. City, containing about 47 acres all cleared but about 6 acres, and in a good state of improvement. Lies high, well drained, medium buildings, a good well of water. A very desirable property. Price $50 per acre in payments. Possession given Jan'y. 1st 1871.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next, balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 570 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A tract of valuable land, containing 356 acres, with fine two story dwelling containing 9 rooms and cook-room. Servant's house with 3 rooms, large barns and stables, all necessary and convenient out-houses, 3 tenant-houses near town, and immediately on the River. About 100 acres of this land is in fine wood and timber, balance in a fine state of cultivation. It has 8,000 grape vines one year old, 3,500 peach, apple and dwarf pear trees, five acres in strawberries which yielded an immence profit this year, ten acres in Lawton and other rare varieties of black-berries, 5 to 20,000 young peach trees with other choice fruits too numerous to mention. This farm has a public road on one side, and the River on the other, where strangers come daily to the landings to receive the fruits and vegetables, and carry them down to Norfolk, Baltimore, Phila., or New York. The land is finely adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, and all other field crops.

The owner of this farm offers to sell in tracts, to suit purchasers, say in 50 to 100 acre tracts, and at prices ranging from $5 to $80 per acre, according to location, buildings, &c.

There is also on this farm a fine fishery, where a seine 1,000 yards long, and 20 feet deep is hauled every Spring. Herring, Shad, Rock-fish, Sturgeon and other valuable fish, are caught by thousands at every draw of the seine. And the profits are frequently large. This fishery of itself is worth nearly as much as is charged for the whole property. The terms will be liberal. This is probably the finest opportunity offered any where for a profitable investment.

Fishery has an office, and two houses for hands besides fish house. Then some 500 to 1,000 loads of best fish manure on hand, besides over 5,000 loads of compost made ready for use. This goes with the farm.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and parlor, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

Another valuable tract of land in Pasquotank county one mile from the town, on the river, and containing 156 acres. Good dwelling house and other outbuildings. Land fine. About 120 acres cleared, balance in wood and timber. This farm is surrounded by parties from the North who have purchased all the land adjoining. Price $35.00 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 and 18 months with interest.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY having a large amount of Real Estate of their own to dispose of, and their business having increased to such an extent, they think it prudent to decline acting further as Commission Agents for the sale of lands belonging to others. They will however be glad at all times to furnish every facility to parties coming to Elizabeth City with a desire to look at the country and make purchases if they find it to their interest to do so.

The following list of property, owned by the Company, is offered for sale on the most reasonable terms. Their object now is to acquire a larger monied capital for the purpose of further developing their unimproved lands and carrying out their original design of increasing the Commerce and General Trade of Elizabeth City.

As there are others in the Commission Business, parties are referred to their advertisement for further information.

ELIZABETH CITY.

The following desirable list of Properties in Elizabeth City are offered at very reduced prices for cash or on time payments at rates which make any of them excellent investments for capitalists. We feel confident that this City is destined to become a large place and property will advance rapidly. Emigration is now tending Southernward and the feeling is in universal favor toward Elizabeth City.

A large two-story dwelling known as the Parsonage, with fine double Piazza, front and back, large out kitchen, stables, carriage house, with 17 acres of ground well enclosed. This ground is all within the corporation of the City, and is well situated to lay out in building lots and make out of it ten fold the price asked for it.

A two-story dwelling containing ten rooms, 10,000 gallon cistern and all necessary out-houses, with large lot. Situated on Main Street. A Vacant Lot no better located and not so large as this was sold recently for $1600 cash.

A large brick store house and wharf situate on Water street; in E. City, comprising three lots with 400 feet of water front. permanently wharfed for the accommodation of large vessels. There is erected on these lots a large two-story brick building, 50 by 80 feet, well fitted up for a wholesale or retail trade at present occupied by the "Yankee Store."

A large wood store on west side of Water street 36 by 60, two stories high, being one of the best stands on Water street for merchandizing.

A House and Lot on Riverside Avenue. House 20ft front by 50 ft deep. Containing eight rooms with Pantry and Cellar, all well finished. modern style, and having all necessary out buildings. The lot contains a front of 400 ft, and would be a good location for a large shop or foundry as one whole side fronts on the water.

Also a large number of Wharf Lots, Mill Lots and Vacant Lots at very low prices, some of which are enumerated below. The Wharf Lots are 200ft deep and will be sold to any size desired along the River. Among them are some most eligible situations for Store Houses, Mills and Manufactories of any kind as there is a fine harbor immediately in front of them, having 30ft of water, sufficient for vessels of any capacity. Along Pennsylvania Avenue are offered some of the finest and choicest lots, for dwellings in town at prices varying according to location. This will be the finest street in town, is 80 feet wide, size of Lot 100ft front by 200ft deep. There are now a number of first class residences being erected on this street. Immediately in the vicinity of these Lots the Company have erected a large Planing Mill, Sash, Blind and Door Factory at a cost of near $20,000 and also their Saw Mill at a cost of near $15,000. That now is the proper time to invest in those Lots there can be no doubt, as they will double in value in a very short time. Lots not near so good as these, are now selling in other parts of the City at more than double the price asked for these.

VACANT LOTS.

Lots Nos. 150, 155, 158, 161, 163, 165, 167, 170. 172. 175, 178, 180, 182, 185, 187, 190 193, 195, 198 and 200, situate on Pennsylvania avenue, in the new extension of Elizabeth City, all choice lots, intended for the better class of residences. They also offer a tract of three thousand acres in Lots to suit purchasers, near the Pasquotank River, ten miles from Elizabeth City and three miles from South Mills. This land is heavily set with wood and also has upon it a vast amount of saw timber, and has a most excellent soil. This is a fine location for a small Colony. There is now a Public Road running directly through it. This tract is offered at the low price of eight dollars per acre if sold to one party, or at only a fraction more if divided into small lots.

The Company will also sell their farm of 250 acres two miles from Elizabeth City. 125 acres cleared and under good cultivation, well fenced, having upon it two dwelling houses, one new and the necessary out buildings wanted on a farm, and will be sold on very reasonable terms.

This property is very desirable being so near the City though for reasons first given will be sold at a very low price.

We have a finely timbered tract of land situated on the Albemarle Sound twenty miles from Elizabeth City, containing 124 acres. Good timber land bordering on the water is valuable both for wood as well as saw timber as water transportation affords a good margin for wood, say one dollar per cord. This will also make good farm land—will be sold for one thousand dollars.

Also one other tract of land containing 154 acres situated immediately on the Pasquotank River ten miles from Elizabeth City, valuable for wood, and is excellent farming lands, would be sold for six dollars per acre.

GATES COUNTY.

The Land & Lumber Company have a tract of 350 acres of timbered land one half mile from Chowan River and three miles from Winton the county seat of Hertford county. This body of land is well timbered and will be sold at the low price of three dollars per acre.
